Statement by Laura Kreidberg on the important role of academic libraries

We need academic libraries in Germany because ...

... they put the whole world of knowledge at our doorstep. Understanding the mysteries of the universe is a monumental task – and libraries play an essential role in harnessing the collective wisdom from scientists all over the world.«

Prof. Dr. Laura Kreidberg

Virtual Open Library Office
every Tuesday from 9 to 12 AM
@Slack, public channel #library

A screenshot of a Slack message thread. The first message is from 'Max Planck Digital Library @MPDL' dated April 6, saying 'What an awesome service @mpi_astro_bib 😊😊😊'. The second message is from 'MPIA Library | Bibliothek @mpi_astro_bib' dated April 6, announcing 'VIRTUAL OPEN LIBRARY OFFICE TODAY 9-12 am @mpi_astro_bib: Hello @mpi_astro+@HdAstro staff&amp;students! It's Wednesday again+the library's virtual office is open today until 12am. Come by, ask questions or make suggestions. We are happy to help you (virtually/ by phone/ in person)'. Below the messages is a large 'OPEN' sign with a blue and red border.

Library Access

- The library is open to all MPIA and HdA members around the clock.
- The services are for all MPIA and HdA members:
  - all MPIA and HdA staff and students
  - all technical and service departments, workers' council, administration etc.

1. New books or journals, exposed in the entrance room of the library for about a week must not be borrowed.
2. Borrowed books or journals must be indicated by replacing them with a legibly filled in shelf marker.
3. Borrowed books and journals are to be kept in plain view in the user's office and must not be taken out of the building or on a business trip.
4. Borrowed books or journals have to be returned to the library within 4 weeks.
5. The person borrowing the book or journal remains responsible for returning it again. We strongly discourage handing over the book or journal without filling in a new shelf marker.

The shelf marker can be found in the library in sufficient numbers along with an explanation how to handle them.

Simone Kronenwett 10:46 AM

The Librarian is back.

As of today, the library is staffed again.

I will gradually work through the inquiries of the last four weeks and ask for a little patience.

Thank you very much.

Welcome_Open.jpg ▾

10:50 Inventory

The library is obliged to make an inventory of all books. The inventory starts on October 5th, 2020 and will take a few weeks time.

Please return all library books you have on loan to the library before that date (if possible by October 1st, 2020)

Permanently loaned books (Dauerausleihe) can remain in your office but should be put there well visible.

Thanks for your understanding. If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to contact me (@Simone Kronenwett)

Thank you very much.

Vorzeitig unbewohnbar?

Externe Gefahren für das Leben auf der Erde!

Das natürliche Ende vom Leben auf der Erde wird durch die Sonne und ihren schwindenden Wasserstoffvorrat vorgegeben. Wie wahrscheinlich ist es jedoch, dass nicht die Sonne oder wir selbst, sondern zum Beispiel Meteoriteinschläge oder Supernova-Explosionen dem Leben auf der Erde vorzeitig ein Ende bereiten?

Jan Rybizki vom Max-Planck-Institut für Astronomie zeigt potentielle Gefahrenquellen auf, die innerhalb und außerhalb unseres Sonnensystems lauern und nimmt uns mit auf eine Reise, die die Entwicklung unseres Sonnensystems und auch von Leben allgemein im galaktischen Kontext beleuchtet.
